Declares Attacks on Jews and Intelligent Russians Are Coming

VOLGA REGION IN TERROR

Talk of Probable Massacre of Jews Current in the Bazaars

TSARITSYN, Russia, Sept. 8.—Hellodorus, the "Mud Monk of Tsaritsyn," today publicly declared that attacks on Jews and the Russian intelligent classes would be commenced after the holding of the forthcoming Congress of the Black Hundred.

The declaration of the parish priest, whose fantastic methods have startled the entire Volga region, has created a sensation of consternation in this city.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—A fantastic pilgrimage of 1,560 persons, mostly women, under the leadership of Helodorus, started the entire Volga region this summer and drew popular attention to the "Mad Monk" to a degree unequalled by any of his previous exploits.

The objective of the pilgrimage was the Sarov desert, where are the relics of St. Seraphim. The emperor and the empress made pilgrimages to Sarov in 1903, a year before the birth of their only son. So the place is well known and the following of Helodorus was large, particularly among women, who were accompanied by monks, priests and archbishops. Priests were all appealed to in organizing this "mad" cult, which was designed to fan the religious flame in this part of Russia. The unquestioning faith of every member of

The band kept the pilgrims in a state of excitement that frequently was marked by hysterical outbursts.

Pilgrims Easily Enrolled.

Pilgrims were easily enrolled to the full capacity of the chartered steamer. They were divided in groups of 50, each group in charge of a banner carrier. With knapsacks on their shoulders and rifles in their hands, they marched through the whole city to Tsaitayin, singing alternately religious and patriotic hymns. Heliochroms, in a caesecol with a red, white and blue collar (the national colors), led the procession. The whole town gathered at the landing stage to bid them farewell. Numerous parting sermons and exhortations keyed the multitude to a high pitch.

The revolutionists wished to travel up and down the Volga and bombard

Our cities," said Heliodoros, in defining the object of their pilgrimage, "but they saw failure. Our mission was to bombard these cities with the sword of God and the shots of divine truth."

The pilgrimage progressed slowly up the river, breaking the journey frequently. A selected group of 50 or more of the best looking young women generally landed first and marched at the head of the procession, followed by another group, especially good singers, with a view to immediate effect upon the Volga crowds.

At most towns the pilgrims were received by large crowds, and in a man-

FIELD MEET SEPT. 23

IN PLACE OF PARADE

IN PLACE OF PARADE

At a meeting of the executive committee of the El Paso County Sunday school association at the Y. M. C. A. last night, it was decided to abandon the idea of a parade during Sunday school week, September 18-24, and a field meet was decided upon in its place. The parade was eliminated because of the fact that the committee deemed it inadvisable to have a parade both at this time and, at the state convention next June. The athletic meet will be held at Washburn field, September 23; and all entries must be sent to J. W. Birps at the Y. M. C. A. by Thursday, September 21. All Sunday schools are invited to participate, and the entries from each school in each event will be limited to three contestants, excepting the relay teams, which will consist of four and the

SERIOUS FOREST FIRES

SAN RAFAEL, Cal. Sept. 8.—Forest fires near Novato, 11 miles north of here, had burned over 10,000 acres of timber and orchard lands tonight, and 400 men continued to fight the flames. The town is believed to be out of danger.

Because of the destruction of boundary markings and monuments, it is believed that a large portion of the burned area must be resurveyed.

NEGRO WANTED FOR ASSAULT AT CANON CITY IS CAUGHT

PUEBLO, Colo. Sept. 8.—Daniel Stratton, aged 40, the negro wanted for an assault upon Mrs. Leonard Reack of Canon City, is safe in jail here having been captured in a boxcar in the Santa Fe yards by Patrolman McManahan, a negro officer. Stratton had eluded a posse which surrounded him during the night near a roadhouse on the Arkansas river, which arrested he was suffering from a gunshot wound received while escaping from the officers last night. His injury is not serious and he probably will be kept in jail here until the excitement at Canon City dies down.

HIGHWAYMAN ATTEMPTS TO ROB MARYLAND BANK

LAUREL, Md. Sept. 8.—A masked man entered the Citizens National bank here today and at the point of a pistol demanded the money that was lying at the desk beside the receiving teller. The would-be robber was forced to flight before he could secure the money. Cashier Waters fired two shots at him.

The holdup was captured later. He admitted his guilt. He gave his name as Henry Jackson, 17 years old, that his home was in Yuma, Ariz., and that he had beat his way east.

MORE TIME IS NEEDED ON IRRIGATION SCHEME

DENVER Sept. 8.—The Great Northern Irrigation company, which proposes to water 144,000 acres in Moffat and Routt counties today applied to the state land board for an extension of three years to complete its work under the Carey act. The company maintains it will take some 100,000 of five years to put water on the land. The board took the case under advisement.

CHILD IS KILLED WHEN LIGHT BULB EXPLODES

CHICAGO Sept. 8.—The explosion of an electric light bulb resulted in the death of a 18-month-old baby in the children's charity ward at the Provident hospital yesterday. The hot fragments of the bulb fell on the infant's head, covering, which became ignited. Smoke from the smoldering bedding asphyxiated the child.

BOMB OUTRAGES CONTINUE

NEW YORK Sept. 8.—Just when the police were beginning to congratulate themselves that the arrest of Giuseppe Costabile, the "Boss," had driven the Black Hand agents here to cover, another bomb was exploded early today in the heart of the long-suffering Italian colony. The bomb, let so in front of the offices of prominent Italian bankers and steamship agents as usual, no one was hurt but the moral effect of the outrage, coming at a time when the Italian colony had been lulled to fancied security was tremendous.

It was the last bomb explosion since last Saturday, a fact significant because for the past month these explosions had occurred on an average of one every two days. But instead of causing the police to lose faith in their belief that in Costabile they have the leader of New York's Italian criminals the occurrence is regarded as a threat of vengeance. Costabile's associates may exact from any of his fellow-countrymen who dare to testify against him. Because he was caught with a bomb under his coat the grand jury in a day or two is expected to indict Costabile for violating the dangerous weapons law. Meanwhile the search for more serious evidence against him continues.

ORGANIZE AGAINST SUFFRAGE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—Frank P. Flint, former United States senator, Oscar B. Lawler, former assistant United States attorney general in the department of the interior, former United States Senator Cornelius Cole and 47 other prominent men of Los Angeles have organized to fight woman's suffrage.

The organization which is considered merely a nucleus of a men's association of opponents to the presentation of the ballot to women, is known as the committee of 50 opposed to the adoption of constitution amendment No. 9. It is proposed that the committee shall serve as a directing and executive body about which a new and powerful wing of the antisuffrage faction shall operate.

Many members of the committee today expressed the belief that it is their duty to "protect" women from the ballot and to prevent the passage of the suffrage amendment.

WARNING ITALIANS OF DANGERS OF TOADSTOOLS

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—With a total of 22 persons killed within a week in New York and vicinity by eating toadstools, the board of health today posted notices in the Italian settlements warning of the danger of eating supposed mushrooms. Grocers were enjoined to use the greatest care. Thirty-three persons are still critically ill of toadstool poisoning.

W. C. T. U. WILL WORK TO KEEP BEULAH OFF STAGE

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 8.—Calling on all other Women's Christian Temperance unions to take similar action, the Jefferson county W. C. T. U. today pledged itself to prevent the appearance on the stage of Beulah Binford or of moving pictures of her.

Resolutions adopted characterize her intention to appear on the stage as "brazen effrontery," and are so severely denunciatory that local newspapers declined to print the original text.

PRISONER BEGINS 35TH YEAR BEHIND THE BARS

BOSTON, Mass. Sept. 8.—Jesse Pomeroy, Massachusetts' most famous prisoner, who is serving a life sentence for murder entered upon his thirty-fifth year of solitary confinement today. Pomeroy entered the state prison when he was 16 years of age. Today he is 51 and has served longer than any other prisoner in solitary confinement in the United States.

While the terms of his sentence require that he shall be kept in solitary confinement as long as he lives, he goes into the yard an hour each day for exercise. This, however, is during the time the rest of the prisoners are in the shops and he has no communication with anyone not even a guard.

For the 34 years he has been confined his mother has never given up the fight to alleviate his condition. She had almost succeeded in winning a commutation for him a few months ago when all her plan was brought to naught by the discovery that he was guilty of the crime for which he is now in prison. He is now 51 and is in an attempt to escape.

CHANGE PROGRAM FOR TAFT'S DENVER VISIT

DENVER, Sept. 8.—The program for President Taft's visit to Denver, which was entirely changed today by the young men's committee of the chamber of commerce, which has the event in charge. The new program received the president's official sanction tonight in a message from Secretary Hille reading:

"This program suits the president. The president will breakfast at the Denver Country Club under the auspices of the Yale Club, then rest until 11 o'clock when he will deliver his address before the land convention in the auditorium. He will be the guest of honor at a luncheon at the home of Crawford Hill where many other guests will be invited. In the afternoon he will take an automobile ride and in the evening he will attend a big banquet at El Jebel temple to which 500 guests will be invited at $5 a plate."

ELOPING COUPLE SEEK BLESSINGS OF PARENTS

NEW YORK Sept. 8.—The paternal blessing is the only thing needed today to complete the happiness of Louis M. Ream and his bride who was Helenor Pendleton, a former chorus girl. Norman H. Ream, the father, one of the big men in the steel corporation and former partner of the late Marshall Field of Chicago, learned for the first time yesterday that his son only three years out of college had been married since September 1.

Young Ream is assistant secretary of a trust company here. His bride, whose real name was Davidson for many years lived in Richmond and Baltimore. Mr. Ream, the elder, is at his country home in Thompson, Conn.

REPORT ON GINNING OF COTTON SHOWS GROWTH

WASHINGTON Sept. 8.—The ginning of cotton of the growth of 1911 was carried on more actively throughout the cotton belt to September 1 this year than in any similar period in its history, at least as far as accurate ginning records have been kept.

This is shown by the first ginning report of the season compiled by the census bureau from reports of its correspondents in the cotton-growing states. A total of 77,717 bales had been ginned up to a week ago. This is greater by almost three hundred thousand bales than the previous record made in 1905.

The continued hot and dry weather in a greater portion of the belt, especially in Texas, was chiefly responsible for the increase.

Little relation appears to exist according to census bureau experts, between the size of the crop and the quantity of cotton ginned during any period of the season. This is shown in the big crop years of 1904, 1906 and 1908, each of which produced more than 13,000,000 bales. In these years the percentage of the total crop ginned to September 1, was 28.71 and 31 per cent, while in 1907, when the crop was 10,800,000 bales, 45 per cent of it was ginned by September 1. Last year 31 per cent of the total crop was ginned to September 1.

PLACE RAMPARTS OVER GRAVEYARD IN PANAMA

WASHINGTON Sept. 8.—The graves of persons buried during the last half century on Flamenco or Dead Man's island in Panama bay at the Pacific entrance of the Panama canal, must give way to ramparts to protect the waterway. The remains of 11 some of them victims of yellow fever decades ago, have just been transferred to Ancon cemetery.

The island, which is a small, fortified and the war department is making preparations to begin the work in order that it may be finished simultaneously with the opening of the canal to the commerce of the world.

Officers and sailors of the United States navy who fell victims to yellow fever years ago contributed a large percentage of the total number buried on Flamenco. Many members of the crews of the United States steamship Lancaster in 1861, and the United States steamship Jamestown in 1867, who died of the fever while those vessels were in Panama bay, were interred on the island. It will never be known how many bodies were buried there. The condition of the tombstones and markers which have been removed is such as to lead to the conviction that many others have long since disappeared leaving unmarked graves.

MORE ARRESTS PENDING IN GEM SMUGGLING CASE

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The indictment of Nathan Allen of Kenosha, Wis., and John R. Collins of Memphis, Tenn., for smuggling the Jenkins jewels, it was learned today, is only one step in the government's prosecution of customs frauds. A banker even more prominent and wealthy than these millionaires is said to be under investigation, and if the federal authorities can accomplish his arrest, it is said, they hope to reach the bottom of an international scandal involving many others, including gem dealers and minor custom employes.

The alleged frauds cover a period of several years and it is reported that the banker under suspicion enabled his friends also to benefit by his carefully laid scheme. This financier, it is said, has offices in several foreign countries and if arrested he is expected to plead nonresidence, with the accompanying right to bring jewels for his own use into the United States duty free. Allen and Collins are expected to comply with the United States district attorney's orders to appear here within 10 days.

PRIEST, ABSENT SEVEN YEARS, DECLARED DEAD

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 8.—Letters of administration for the estate of the Rev. Father John J. Quinn have just been granted by the probate court here. Father Quinn disappeared suddenly seven years ago and is now declared legally dead. He went to visit a brother priest in Norfolk, Va., in February, 1904. He spent some time there and late in the month bought his tickets and booked passage back to Hartford. Nothing more has ever been heard or seen of him. His estate is valued at $25,000.

RECALL MOVEMENT FAILS

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 7.—When the first check of the names on the supplemental petition to call a recall election for Mayor George W. Dilling was completed tonight it was apparent that the recall movement had failed. Although sufficient names were found valid to force the calling of the election, there have been filed more than 500 applications for withdrawals of names. Five hundred more are ready to be filed tomorrow, so the Dilling defense committee asserts. Friends of the recall are contemplating an effort to enjoin the withdrawal of these names. If the withdrawals can be prevented, the recall election must be called; otherwise the movement has finally failed.

HORN TAKES CHARGE OF COUNTY EXHIBIT WORK

Will See That El Paso Farmers Make Good Showing at Dry Farming Congress.

Fred F. Horn has been engaged to organize the El Paso county exhibit at the International Dry Farming congress next month. He will start in Monday morning to round up the farmers and get together their best products. There is no question but that this county can make as good a showing as any in the state. Chairman B. A. Santa has named an El Paso county committee composed of R. E. Johnson, W. W. Williamson, Martin Slaughter, G. A. Boyd, Miles Cook, all of this city, and Martin Funk of Calhan. They met at headquarters last evening and discussed the situation. Mr. Horn agreed to take up the work and will establish a desk at headquarters, where he will be glad to meet those who are ready to send exhibits.

A subcommittee is working on a special premium list for the county exhibits, and will report at a meeting next Tuesday evening. Nearly every farmer has some new and handsome specimens, and there has been no one to especially take care of them. Yesterday, Dr. G. A. Robinson brought in a big bunch of broom-corn millet that was raised on his place, 10 miles south of Calhan, and B. H. Fitch brought in corn that is as fine as anyone would want to see. Some of it contains two or three ears to the stalk.

Shafroth to Present City's Invitation to Congress Governors

Governor Shafroth has left for Spring Lake, N. J., where he will attend the Congress of Governors. According to Secretary Henderson of the Chamber of Commerce, the governor has vouchsafed his willingness to present Colorado Springs' invitation to that body for its next annual meeting. Governor Shafroth decided it would be well for Colorado to enter two cities in the campaign for the next congress, and will extend an invitation from Denver as well as this city. The governor pointed out it was in such a manner that the convention was secured for Kentucky last year. The Congress of Governors was formed by former President Roosevelt so that the governors of various states might band together to exchange views and discuss matters of national importance.

Ready for Congress.
SPRING LAKE, N. J., Sept. 8.—This little village is making elaborate preparations today for the biggest event in its history—the conference of governors here next week. On Monday night there will be an elaborate display of fireworks. On Tuesday night Governor and Mrs. Wilson will hold a reception at the state cottage on the camp grounds at Seagirt, and on Wednesday afternoon the entire party will go to Fort Hancock by a special train to view the Sandy Hook fortifications. On Thursday night a dinner will be given to the visitors by the Spring Lake reception committee.

The attendance of state executives will be much larger than last year. Two of the governors who were to have read papers will be unable to be present. Governor Deneen of Illinois having been injured in an automobile accident last Sunday, and Governor Carroll of Iowa, having urgent engagements at home. Governor Odell of Nevada, will be unable to come because of an operation for appendicitis last Sunday. Most of the other governors will be on hand, many of them accompanied by their wives.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of F. N. Faulkner and family, please notify Mrs. G. L. Folco at 1723 Colorado avenue, care of Mrs. Boyd.

WANTED—ONE POLICE CHIEF

Wanted—a man to take the position of chief of police in a city of about 30,000 inhabitants. Apply with credentials to A. Himebaugh, commissioner, city hall, Colorado Springs.

The appointment or even the recommendation for appointment of a successor to Chief of Police Armstrong, who was removed a month ago on a charge of accepting a diamond ring from a prisoner under arrest, is still as much a matter of speculation as it was four weeks ago.

During this period the city has been without a regular head to its police department, and within the last few days rumors of dissatisfaction have been going the rounds until now they have reached the city hall.

The prophesied tilt between the mayor and Himebaugh has not materialized, and since the day that Armstrong was ousted, the matter of his permanent successor has not been discussed by the two city officials whose decision will determine the next chief of police.

"I can't make an appointment until someone is recommended to me," said Mayor Avery yesterday, "and as I have no intimation as to who will be suggested, I cannot say what action will be taken."

Tractor Plowing Will Be Shown Near Springs

The people of this city are to have their first sight of tractor plowing in the vicinity of the place during the Dry Farming congress. There has never been enough plowed ground around here to justify anyone installing a gang plow, but the Hart-Parr Tractor company of Charles City, Ia., announces that it will send two plows here for the exposition. One will be set to work plowing on a tract of land near the city, and the other will be exhibited on the exposition grounds.

CITY REPAYS LOAN

At yesterday's meeting of the city council, Commissioner Whitaker, informed the other members that $75,000, which the city borrowed from the Exchange National bank a few weeks ago, has been repaid. The loan was negotiated to pay urgent bills and interest in connection with waterworks improvement, and at a time when it was not known whether the water bond extension issue was legal. The bonds have been purchased, however, and the city has received $187,000 from the buyers.

No matters of importance were taken up at the meeting yesterday. Gale's subdivision in the northeastern part of the city was taken in as a part of Colorado Springs, when it was learned that sewers and water mains have been laid and the streets and alleys laid out in accordance with city plans. Twenty-five dollars was ordered paid to the "local" federation of Colored Women's clubs to help pay the expenses of the convention held here recently.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS

Take a second glance at every $10 bill that comes into your possession. This is a tip that the police are giving to residents of Colorado Springs. Word came from the police of Denver yesterday that a number of counterfeit $10 bills have been placed in circulation in that city. Attached was the query: "Have they been working there?"

R. K. Goddard of the United States secret service department, who is working up the case from the Denver end, gives a description of the new "guerrilla" bills. They bear the signature of the Anglo-London and Paris bank, of San Francisco, with the McKinley head, and are said to be a good imitation of the original.

"We have not heard of any of the bills being 'shoved' over at this end," local police say, "but this is what we want to prevent. The counterfeiters' headquarters is thought to be in Omaha."

AUTO WRECKED; RIDERS HURT

As a climax to an automobile ride, early yesterday morning, R. H. Reid, 21 years old, 505 North Weber street, in the St. Francis hospital, with a broken leg, and two companions, J. Cyrus Estill, 31 years old, of 218 East Wiltonette avenue, and E. M. West of Kansas City, Mo., are suffering from minor bruises and scratches. The automobile, in which they were riding struck a railing at the bridge in Cheyenne road, near the zoo park entrance, jumped the ditch, ran into a tree and spilled the occupants.

Reid is the son of H. I. Reid, a surveyor. Estill is the son of the late Dr. J. Estill. The machine was borrowed by West, it is said, from Mrs. Florence Carter of Kansas City, who is stopping at 218 East St. Arden street. The three were returning from Broadmoor, when the accident happened, traveling, it is said, at a rate of about 30 miles an hour. Estill was at the wheel.

Reid was thrown several feet when the car struck the tree. He was knocked unconscious and his left leg was broken. He also received several bruises about the face and body. Estill was cut and bruised about the face and legs. West was bruised about the body. Estill and West returned to their homes yesterday, while Reid is still at the hospital. His condition is not considered serious.

The automobile was not seriously damaged.

EXCELLENT EXHIBIT FROM OKLAHOMA AT EXPOSITION

Oklahoma is to be represented at the exposition of the International Dry Farming congress in this city, next month, by a fine exhibit from the experimental stations and the dry land farms. A letter from James A. Wilson, director of the Oklahoma agricultural experiment station to Secretary Burns of the congress, dated at Stillwater, September 5, says:

"Replying to your favor of some days ago, with which you enclosed a plan of your exposition building, I take pleasure in saying that we shall be pleased to be represented at the coming exposition and will make an effort to exhibit our products of the season grown under very adverse conditions as to the supply of soil moisture."

The president of the college has authorized me to prepare an exhibit for our state fair and see that the same is forwarded to you according to your directions, which we will await at your earliest convenience.

This will be the first time that Oklahoma has officially participated in the dry farming exposition, but her educators have taken up the work this year in earnest. They have employed J. E. Pavine to conduct dry farming experiments, and the J. H. Council of the agricultural college is to have part on the dry farming congress program.

"SUPERSTITION" READS
NEW MAJESTIC PROGRAM

For the week opening tomorrow afternoon Manager Taimmon of the Majestic has secured another high-class offering, full of interesting acts, with an exceptionally good sketch as the headliner and a fine musical number as a special feature. The bill has lots of fun in it and will prove very popular with local audiences, whose particular failing is for comedy, as indeed is the average audience everywhere in the country.

The headliner, "Superstition," presented by Charles W. Bowser and company is the latest sensational New York success. In writing the playlet Mr. White, the author, has shown a keen appreciation for the desires of a readable audience. He has written a well-knit piece, highly plausible, with a heart interest bound to hold attention and please. The political boss in the hands of Mr. Bowser is a figure of

A PLEA FOR ABE RUEF

A FEW weeks ago the news dispatches told of an extraordinary display of weakness by a country woman who had caused the arrest of her husband for astonishing acts of cruelty. She proved by the testimony of her own children and other witnesses that the man had not only beaten her severely and kept her tied to a tree for hours, but that he had actually harnessed her to a plow with a horse and forced her to help drag it several times around a corn field. The inhuman brute made little or no defense, but during the hearing tried repeatedly and finally with success to win back his wife's sympathies and induce her to drop the case. At last she burst into tears, threw her arms around his neck and begged the Court to withhold punishment, because "even though he did treat me terribly, he is still my husband and the father of my children." The sympathetic expressions of the spectators were immediately turned to sneers and other evidences of disgust, summed up in the disdainful remark that it was "just like a woman."

Something of the same feeling, but in milder form, is inspired by the plea for leniency for Abe Ruef, the convicted San Francisco grafter, which is contributed to the current number of The Survey by Fremont Older, editor of the San Francisco Bulletin. It should be understood that Mr. Older is the man who first exposed the San Francisco grafters and who, with Rudolph Spreckels, Attorney Francis J. Heney, and Detective William J. Burns, was primarily responsible for their final defeat and the actual imprisonment of the ringleader, Ruef. Because of his incessant hounding of these criminals his life and his business were in constant jeopardy and probably nobody is better aware of the dangerous character of the criminal horde of which Ruef was the head and front.

Therefore, it is quite a shock to find Mr. Older declaring publicly that he has been "seized with a desire to soften the feeling that had crystallized against him (Ruef) through the long years of the conflict," and expressing the hope that when the arch-criminal has served a year in the penitentiary he will be given a pardon. Mr. Older says:

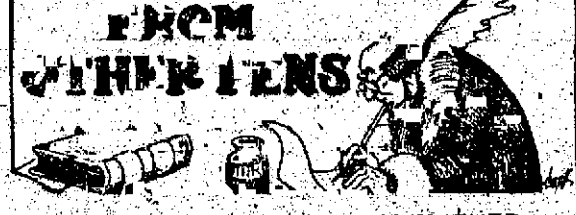

If the graft fight in San Francisco served no other purpose, it proved of great educational value both to the people in whose interest it was waged and to the men who led the movement. True, Abraham Ruef was the only man indicted who reached the penitentiary, but speaking as one of the men prominent in bringing about the exposure, I do not regret that more were not placed in the stripes of infamy. I do not regret it because I have ceased to believe that our economic difficulties are going to be solved by sending men to prison. The cure lies deeper. Men are too weak to withstand the temptations that lie in their way. So long as public necessities are controlled by private corporations there will be civic corruption.

Rather a futile argument, it seems to us. The fact that Ruef is "the only man indicted who reached the penitentiary," can scarcely be argued as a sufficient reason for releasing him. In effect, Mr. Older contends that if ten thieves are implicated in a crime none of them should be punished unless all are likewise punished.

As for the inefficacy of imprisonment as a solution of "our ONLY economic difficulties," or, as he says, "probably means a cure for criminality," there is room for broad differences of opinion. It is probably true that as a rule a criminal is not really reformed by imprisonment, unless he is a mere beginner in crime. But it happens that in our present stage of social development the prison is the most humane and enlightened means of dealing with this problem. We have abandoned the rack and the thumbscrew. Capital punishment, which a century ago was inflicted even in enlightened England for a dozen or more crimes, is now used for only one. Important advances have been made in prison reform within recent years, and instead of being the chambers of horrors which they were a half century ago most of them are well-conducted institutions where the laws of health and sanitation are observed and where there is neither brutality nor conscious effort to increase the humiliation which the mere fact of imprisonment itself imposes.

Abe Ruef is no ordinary criminal. He is a man of unusual native ability which has been enhanced by careful education and excellent legal training. He possesses high qualities of leadership which, with courage and cunning serve to make him a thoroughly dangerous man. To secure his imprisonment cost the people of California an immense sum of money and a fight which continued for eight years and blackened the reputation of the entire state. Unless a wave of sentimentalism has succeeded the moral awakening of a few years ago he will remain in the penitentiary to the end of his term, despite the changed attitude of his influential former prosecutor.

FROM THE WILSON MYTH DISBELIEVED
From the Springfield Republican.
The added strength which has come to the Taft administration through the replacement of Mr. Ballinger by Secretary Fisher as chief of the interior department, is a demonstration of the advantage which would be gained if Secretary Wilson were quickly relieved from the department of agriculture, and some one adequate to his position selected in his stead. It is not only apparent that Secretary Wilson lacks the necessary force to conduct his department, but so much has been disclosed of his attitude on the pure food question that he can hardly fail to be an object of attack from now on. There has long been a political myth in Washington that Secretary Wilson is so strong with the farmers of the country that to remove him would estrange the farmer vote, but it is a myth with little to support it at the present time.

FEARLESS OF WHAT?
From Collier's.
Discussing the recall of judges it is common to speak of "the fearless judiciary." As one of our readers pertinently asks, fearless of whom, or what? The fear of God has usually been looked upon as desirable. Whether or not vox populi is vox Dei, an argument can well be made that a fear of settled public opinion is more wholesome at least than the fear of bosses or corporations, which has been known to influence some judges under the present system. For our part, we think Arizona or any other community should be allowed to apply the recall to judges if it thinks best. The recall is neither a panacea nor a crime. It is a piece of machinery, which may work well in a given situation or may not, and it is up to the people to be allowed to experiment with it if the said full-grown people so desire.

AEROPLANE TRIUMPHS
From the New York Sun.
Mr. Harry N. Atwood, who has found his way through the air from St. Louis to New York, via Chicago, flying at the rate of 45 miles an hour, says he believes "the possibilities of the plane are unlimited, positive and unlimited." Mr. Atwood is young and enthusiastic, but who shall say he is wrong? M. Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, acknowledges to be careful not to get a hint to the per-formances of the aeroplane. Before he flew from London to Manchester a year ago one skeptic de-clared that he was ready to bet $1,000,000 the thing could not be done. When the greatest altitude attained by the heavier-than-air machine was 500 feet it was asserted by another skeptic that no aeroplane would ever be motored to 5,000 feet; the record is now over 11,000 feet. So it will not do to be dogmatic about the future of aviation. Every day there is a greater achievement, a new wonder, and skepticism has another fall.

LOOKS LIKE AN EARLY FALL
From the Kansas City Gazette.
The home of Mrs. Ellen Bump was the scene of an almost enjoyable affair on the evening of August 23, when 25 young ladies met for a china shower in honor of Miss Nettie Little, whose approaching marriage to Mr. Harry Bump will be celebrated this fall.

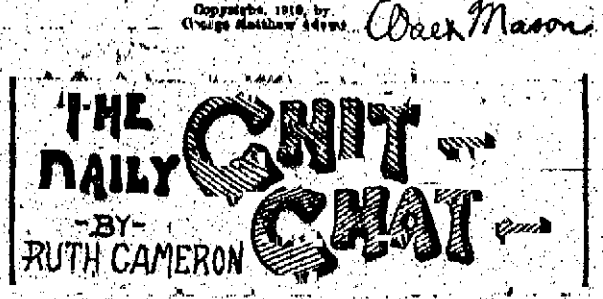

SOMETHING ALMOST HAPPENED
From the Morocco (Ind.) Courier.
The quiet Sunday evening vesper came nearly being disturbed by the clanking of the fire bell, for it was just after church was dismissed and while the worshippers were wandering their way home that the fire bell called the local volunteer fire company, and populace to the home of J. J. Blocker.

THE ENRAPTURED REPORTER
From the Texarkana Daily Texarkian.
The second of a series of beautiful toasts being pulled off to pay tribute to the popular bridge-elect, Miss Lillian Foreman, crystallized on Wednesday afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock by that vivacious hostess Miss Lizzie Webber. As one maid in waiting, Miss Webber chose to compliment Miss Foreman with a miscellaneous shower which is more aptly called a tea on this occasion, having resolved itself into just such a merry gathering. Exquisite blossoms were deftly placed on mantels, cabinets, and pedestals in the general reception suite, gorgeous roses ran in the lead, in fact, the great wealth of flowers called up visions of "one I love, two I love, three I love," or of a little vine-clad cottage joined in song and story, so clearly was the thought carried of the consummation of love's young dream. Halfway greetings were merrily tossed by Miss Esther Webber and Miss Mildred Finner, who in their happy way quietly received unnoticed the tokens of the guests.

Into our little burg there came a minister of worldwide fame who preached for half an hour; his sermon surely was a scream; it touched upon a vital theme, and thrummed with force and power. The folks from all the countryside had come to hear the pulpit's pride, and heard some words of cheer, he drew big money for his speech for less than that our pastor's standing by with admiration in his eye, a humble, shrinking man, who labors with us day by day, and does his best to show the way, and teach salvation's plan. Our pastor knows what hunger's like; he makes long journeys on the pike to bring his gospel dope; he lifts the mourner's drooping head, and prays beside the dying bed of sinners shorn of hope. He knows us, and our little sins; he tells us of the scheme that wins forgiveness in the end; he's been our comrade through the years, he shares our triumphs and our tears, he is our bully friend. God bless him in his humble path; I'll bet he's wider swarth than all these surplined lads, the church's famed and gifted stars who scoot around in private cars and lecture for the secular!

A letter has just come to hand which is so much more interesting than anything I could hope to write, that I have presented my correspondent with my sincere thanks.

"I am emboldened," states the writer after the usual introduction and a little soft soap, "to come to you today with what I know is an unusual subject. The fact is I am a bachelor. I am 45, six feet tall, weight 175 pounds, am a blonde, in perfect health, fine teeth, my only claim to good looks. I am very well educated, not extravagantly so, but very well read and well informed on a good many subjects. I have a profession in which I have for the most part, made a fair living, but having had no incentive, have missed the chief incentive to make any real exertion.

"Now, strange to say, I do not like being a man nor do I like men's work. In my tastes I believe I am more of a woman. I am a good cook, like the domestic life, really love to cook, never find it a trouble but a pleasure. Oh, yes, I know what I am talking about for I have, and I do not understand how a woman can dislike cooking and prefer work in an office or store. I can make beds and sweep and often make up my own room, simply because I prefer to do so. I do not know how I might make out at sewing, but I have sewed on buttons and patched.

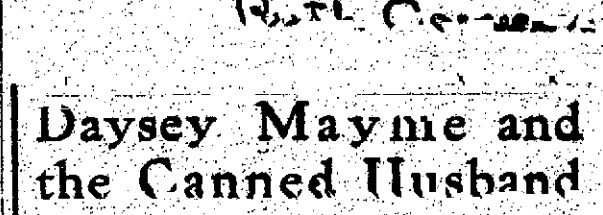

"Now, Miss Cameron, the question is this: Do you suppose in your large experience with human nature and the world in general, that it would be possible for me to find a woman willing to marry me? I mean a nice woman, an attractive one and also one who simply detests housework, one who calls herself a 'working woman' and delights in that appellation, and who would continue that work and bring in the wherewithal for the maintenance of the household, while I remained at home and did the housekeeping and all that would be necessary for a cozy well-kept home."

"You simply can't imagine how I long for a home, a real home, cozy and domestic. I am tired of a bachelor's life. I have led rather a clean and steady life as men go, nothing out of the common, neither very good, nor very bad. I could have married several times, real nice girls—but, well I admit I was a coward—afraid not to succeed in being all in a financial way that the women of today seem to consider essential. Now, if a woman makes the money she knows where it comes from and will perhaps not exact so much, and for my part I will engage to keep my promise to always have a bright and cozy home with the meals ready when she returns. You see, I have already done that for my relative so I know what I am promising to do. I do not think this idea is really unusual one with lots of men. I have heard men express themselves in nearly this way—but they do not like their feeling to be shown, thinking it unmanly. I do not think it is more unmanly than for a woman to demand domestic duties and prefer outside work. If the Maker of all, the Supreme Being has put the soul of a woman in a man's body and vice versa, who is to blame? Certainly not the man or woman in the case.

"I certainly could love some nice woman very much, and be so good to her, if she could be satisfied with my humble self, and how I would serve her with every fiber of my being!"

Sometimes I fancy that I can believe letters written just to "bait" me, and then again I believe it is genuine. Anyway, I think it is a very interesting point of view.

Don't you?

DAYSEY MAYME and the Canned Husband
By FRANCES L. GARSIDE.
"I hear there is a young man hanging steadily around your parlor," said a letter coming to Daysey Mayme Appleton from an aunt in the east who is very unhappy in her married life, "and I send you a 'canned husband,' hoping that after you have heard him talk you will decide to remain single."

The Applets were mystified. What was a "canned husband?" At the end of two days their suspense was relieved, for there arrived by express a graphophone.

"That's a funny thing to call a canned husband," said Lysander John, putting on a record and a needle, "your aunt should send a chart with her jokes."

The Canned Husband.
But no chart was necessary after the record began to revolve, for the reason it was called a "canned husband" was so plain. Lysander John put on his hat and went for a walk.

"What did you do with all that money I gave you last week?" said a man's cross voice. "You women have a notion men are made of money."

"The children had to have new shoes," said a woman's voice in reply, "you had to have new underwear, and there was the grocer to pay. I didn't spend a cent on myself."

"Why should you spend anything on yourself?" grumbled the man's voice. "Don't keep a roof over your head and feed you, and didn't you have a new suit two years ago?"

In the second record the man did all the talking, the only interruption being the baby's wailing cry and the sobs of its mother.

"Can't you keep that baby quiet?" said the man's voice. "Must I spend all my time at home listening to its howling? I want to sit down in peace and read, and the baby frets and I don't know what's before my eyes. At meal time you can't give proper attention to my wants because the baby howls, and at night there is no sleep for me in my own home, and I have been compelled to stay at a hotel. Don't you know how to keep it quiet? If you don't, then for heaven's sake send for some one who can or put it in an orphan asylum to be raised. It takes after me. I know I never cried like that when I was a baby."

Before and After.
A third record seems to have been taken at different periods and they were headed "Before" and "After." In the "Before" period the man's voice is declaring that if she will marry him he will devote his life to her happiness; he will love her, he says, forevermore.

"Of course I don't love you," the "After" division of Record No. 3 says. "Because I told you I loved you when you were a pretty girl doesn't mean I have to now you are a faded woman."

The fourth record was devoted to a criticism of the wife because the steak was overdone, interspersed with her pleas that the baby was so sick she couldn't watch the cooking and care for the child, too.

Daysey Mayme put away the graphophone when she had heard Record 4, and looked more thoughtful than usual. And every evening after her latest "Heart's Desire" has gone home, she puts on a record and looks still more thoughtful while listening to a man's voice find fault with his wife for everything under the shining sun.

PLURAL AND SINGULAR
We'll begin with a box, and the plural is boxes. But the plural of ox should be oxen, not oxes. Then one fowl is goose, but two are called geese. Yet the plural of mouse should never be mice; You may find a lone mouse or a whole lot of mice. But the plural of house is houses, not hlices. If the plural of man is always called men. Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pan? The plural may be cows or kips. But a bow if repeated is never called blins. And the plural of vow is vows, not vine. And if I speak of a foot and you show me your feet. And I give you a boot, would a pair be called beet? If one is a tooth, and a whole set are teeth. Why shouldn't the plural of tooth be called beeth? If the singular's this and the plural is these, Should the plural of kiss be nicknamed keese? Then one may be that, and three would be those. Yet hat in the plural would never be hose. And the plural of cat is cats, not coage. We speak of a brother and also of a sister. But though we say mother we never say matthern. Then masculine pronouns are he, his, and him. But imagine the feminine, she, shis, and shim. So the English, I think, you all will agree, Is the most wonderful language you ever did see.

CONSERVING THE PUBLIC DOMAIN
Work of the U. S. Geological Survey Shows Progress in Administration of Mineral Resources.

The United States geological survey is pushing steadily ahead in the classification of the public lands, pricing coal lands, recommending the restoration to agricultural entry of lands found to be nonmineral in character, designating lands subject to enlarged homestead entry, and recommending the reservation of lands suitable for water-power sites.

During the month of May the survey appraised 3,722,555 acres as coal land, with a value of $49,233,112, and 1,355,932 acres as noncoal land. Had these coal lands been appraised at the old minimum rate in force a few years ago ($10 or $20 an acre), their valuation would have been $35,370,760; the present valuation therefore shows a difference in favor of the government of $13,862,352. In New Mexico, Utah, and Wyoming four withdrawals were made of land supposed to be underlain by coal comprising 1,448,553 acres, while in Colorado, Montana, New Mexico, Washington and Wyoming six restorations were made of coal land comprising 3,089,845 acres. One area of 400 acres of phosphate land in Florida was withdrawn, making the total area of phosphate land withdrawn 2,548,545 acres. Three power-site withdrawals were made, covering 9,354 acres and one restoration of 100 acres leaving a total of 1,507,433 acres withdrawn for power sites at the end of the month.

Under the enlarged homestead act 243,788 acres were designated, making a total of 190,179,895 acres designated as enterable under the provisions of this act.

It is the policy of the geological survey in the classification of the public lands to recommend the withdrawal of such areas as may be considered necessary from the standpoint of the federal government for the protection and conservation of its mineral and water resources; to make such withdrawals as accurately as possible, on the basis of the information available; and to make further investigations and procure additional data in order to restore, if possible, areas not necessary to the protection of the people's interests.

A meeting of citizens to consider plans for the campaign to have the state capital removed to Colorado Springs was held in Court House hall. It was called to order by B. W. Barker, J. H. B. McFerran, A. Sagerdoff, L. E. Sherman and W. M. Strickler.

NO. 6. FENILWORTH CASTLE

Kenilworth castle, one of the most admired of English feudal monuments, is located in Warwickshire. It was founded about 1120 and was long of note as a royal residence. It was besieged and taken by the royalists in 1650; was the prison of Edward II. in 1327; was granted to John of Gaunt, and 1562 to the Earl of Leicester. It was the scene of entertainments given to Queen Elizabeth an account of which is given in Sir Walter Scott's novel of Kenilworth, and it was dismantled under Cromwell.

Among the notable features of the ruins are the Norman keep, the picturesque tower, the banqueting hall, and the many towers of the outer line of defense.

The ruins of the Castle of Kenilworth are the most splendid and magnificent in the United Kingdom. They are only five miles from the town of Leamington. Sir Walter Scott has immortalized their ivy-covered, "cloud-capped towers," and has picturesquely described the entertainment given at the castle by Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, to Queen Elizabeth, which continued for 17 days. During this entertainment Leicester spent $85,000; which is equivalent to more than a half million at the present time.

The first buildings upon approaching the ruins of Kenilworth castle is a deep hollow overgrown by underbrush, are the base and side walls of the "Gallery Tower," the southeast end of the "Tilt Yard," and originally the chief entrance to the castle. You enter by a gate in the north wall and first arrive at Leicester's gatehouse, a square building of four stories, flanked at each angle with an octagonal tower and embattled. This building is not generally open to visitors as it is a private residence. Passing on, you come directly in front of the main building, and looking west have the inner court full in view. The east side of the square was composed of buildings erected by King Henry VIII and Sir Robert Dudley, but is now wholly destroyed.

On the right is "Caesar's Tower," a vast keep of immense strength, with walls many feet thick. Beyond is the building called "Mervyn's Tower," which all readers of Scott's novel of "Kenilworth" will visit. The chambers are all arched with stone, and it is supposed that they served as prisons in the time of Henry II. From the top may be seen on the right the remains of the "Swan Tower," which formed the northwest angle of the outer walls built in Henry III's time.

Adjoining "Mervyn's Tower" on the south, is the great "Banqueting Hall" built by John of Gaunt. The floor was supported on a stone vaulting, carried on parallel rows of pillars, the remains of which may be seen. The windows were of remarkable height and were filled with tracery and transomed.

NOBEL RECORD

Of many hundreds of thousands of cures forms a well sustained basis for claim put forth by the makers of DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY as a remedy for many of the troublesome affections which afflict mankind; yet it is not extolled as a "cure-all" by any means. No extravagant claims are flaunted before the public to arouse false hopes in the afflicted. Neighbors probably know of some of its many cures; ask them.

Through strengthening and arousing the stomach, liver and bowels into vigorous action, digestion is promoted, whereby the blood is enriched and purified, disease-producing bacteria destroyed and expelled from the body, and thus a long list of skin, scrofulous and kindred affections are overcome and sound, vigorous health established.

The "Discovery" contains no alcohol and no habit-forming drugs, and has every ingredient printed on its wrappers. This OPEN PUBLICITY places a class distinct from the ordinary secret nostrums with which it has no relationship. Physicians, therefore, do not hesitate to prescribe it in bad cases of indigestion, torpid liver or biliousness and in skin and blood affections. People of intelligence and keen discernment employ it. The "Discovery" is a pure extract of native medicinal roots of great curative potency, and can be used by either child or adult. The aged find it a great invigorator. You can learn more about this time proven and popular "Discovery" from People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, a newly issued, up-to-date edition of which is now offered, in cloth covers, post-paid, for one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only; or in paper covers, for one-cent stamps. Noted Cases

J. L. Harrison, under suspended sentence for forgery, was taken before Judge Owen in the district court yesterday, charged with drunkenness. Harrison begged hard for another chance to reform, and his plea was granted. He declared that he was under the influence of liquor when he forged checks amounting to $40 several months ago. Relatives made the amount good and Harrison was allowed to go. He celebrated his freedom by getting intoxicated, and when cited into court yesterday had recently been discharged from the county jail.

A. W. Johnson, arrested here by the police yesterday for Pueblo, was taken to that city last evening by Sheriff McMillan to answer a charge of grand larceny. He is accused of stealing a camera and tripod several weeks ago. Johnson came to Colorado Springs a short time ago, and was employed as a repair man at the Zimmerman typewriter agency.

Thomas B. Cavender filed suit in the district court yesterday asking $5,000 damages from the Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek District Railway company for the death of his wife, Anna L., who died June 12 last as a result, he claims, of being injured in a Short Line wreck. The wreck occurred near the station of North Cheyenne, one coach of a passenger train being derailed and overturned.

J. P. Rossett, alias Shorty Thompson, was sent to jail for 60 days yesterday by Justice Dunningham. The costs, amounting to about $30, were assessed against him. Rossett was convicted of vagrancy.

Mrs. Maude E. Bishop filed suit in the county court yesterday for divorce from Ernest Bishop. Desertion and non-support are alleged in the complaint. The couple were married in 1893, and the custody of their child is asked for by Mrs. Bishop. After being out for five hours without reaching an agreement, the jury in the W. H. Hoyt case was locked up for the night at 10 o'clock. Hoyt was tried in the district court yesterday on a charge of committing a statutory crime. His 16-year-old daughter was the complaining witness against him.

WOMAN MAYOR REFUSES TO DISCUSS INTERVIEW

HUNNEWELL, Kan. Sept. 8.—"My present duty is to keep a secret and, though a woman, I shall keep it." This was the reply of Mrs. Ella Wilson, mayor, made upon her arrival here today to all questions concerning the suit of her conference in Kansas City, Kan., yesterday appointed by Governor W. R. Stubbs, to restore peace between the woman executive and her obstinate council of men.

So Hunnewell, for months without an effective government, now awaits the meeting of the council next Monday when the secret is expected to come out. From Mayor Wilson's confident manner it is believed the question of dealing with the rebellious council will be solved at that meeting.

BEIER BEETS THIS SEASON

GREELY, Colo., Sept. 8.—M. E. J. gell, manager of the Greeley sugar factory, says the beets are testing 1 percent more in sugar now than at this time last year. The tests running from 14 to 15 percent. With a month more of sunshine the sugar content should run considerably higher.

Payment will be made this year on the sliding scale, based on sugar content, but the farmer will receive an additional 12 cents for every half percent of sugar after the sugar content shows 15 1/2 percent.

YACHTSMEN FLEE BEFORE ONSLAUGHT OF MOSQUITO

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The Jersey mosquito, always at its best in the early autumn, is proving too much for the yachtmen and yachtsmen in New York harbor and along the lower Hudson. Many yacht owners have found the plague of insects so severe that they have deserted their customary anchorages in the harbor and fled up the river beyond the mosquito belt. J. Pierpont Morgan was one of the sufferers this week. He was spending last night on his yacht, the Corsair, at his anchorage off Eighty-first street, when the Jersey invaders became unbearable in their attacks. Mr. Morgan ordered the captain to weigh anchor and steam up the Hudson to Ardsley.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Trading that was unsettled and at times feverish resulted in sharp fluctuations today on the stock exchange. The drift was downward, although there were several sharp rallies which temporarily reduced losses. Several issues, including Missouri Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Denver and Rio Grande preferred and Anaconda Copper fell to new low points for the year. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading, United States Steel, Northern Pacific, Lehigh Valley, New York Central and American Smelting came within fractions of the year's low prices. Losses ranged from 1 to 2 points, with a partial rally at the end. Operations were governed to some extent by the crop report, the cotton ginning report and the copper producers statement.

The heaviest selling of the day followed crop failures. Copper shares sold off, before the publication of the report and later rallied. The report was considered favorable. In connection with the heavy selling of United States Steel and the obviously bearish attitude of many traders toward the stock there was noted today the first slight falling off in steel mill operations compared with the average during August. The United States Steel corporation was reported to be at present operating about 75 per cent of its capacity, a decline of about 3 per cent.

Reports of national banks as of September 1 disclosed the fact that large New York banks did not reduce their holdings of stock during the August decline as greatly as might have been expected. The largest national banks, however, had reduced their holdings of securities between June 7, the date of the previous report, and September 1 of only about $3,400,000.

The bond market was heavy. Total sales, par value, $1,862,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Although the government figures today on the wheat crop turned out to be bullish, the market here closed easy, 3/4 lower to 1/2 up. If the Washington report had been available before trading for the day had come to an end, the finish would doubtless have been different. Late transactions showed a decline of 1/2 to 1/4 under last night's close down to 1/2. The market was generally expected that the conditions of the spring wheat would be given by the government at about 50 per cent, indicating a crop of 312,000,000 bushels. Instead the official announcement was 57 per cent, from which it was estimated that the yield would be only 206,000,000 bushels. While waiting for the news from Washington, dealers found both light and fluctuations narrow. Signs of increased shipments from Russia, as well as from India and Argentina, weakened the market. Later, however, the market hardened a little on account of some foreign buying here. December ranked from 86 1/2 to 87 1/2, with last sales at 86 1/2, net lower, at 86 1/2. Corn declined, owing to a belief that the government figures on the crop would be increased. December fluctuated between 63 1/2 and 64 1/2, closing easy, 1/2 off, at 63 1/2. Cash grades were steady. No. 2 yellow closed at 86 1/2.

Oats were depressed as a result of buying holding off. Top and bottom prices touched by the December option were 45 1/2 and 46 1/2. The close, 45 1/2. No. 2 white closed at 46 1/2.

Selling by the packers tended to pull down provisions. In no case, however, did the decline at the finish exceed 1/2.

Two young college men, H. A. B. Sample and Delmar Draper, of Vanderbilt university, will return to their homes in Nashville with depleted wardrobes because of courtesies extended a stranger.

Are Wondering Where Man, Reported Shot, Received Treatment

Who is the man by the name of Baldwin who met with an accident yesterday, being shot through the right shoulder?

Attendees at the different hospitals would like to know the answer. Several times during the day at Gluckner, Bethel and St. Francis hospitals, a woman, using the telephone, inquired: "Have you a man by the name of Baldwin at the hospital? He was shot in the shoulder this morning." But the hospital attendants could throw no light on the mystery. It was the first time they had heard of a man by the name of Baldwin meeting with an injury. Only one accident case had been reported during the day, and it was of a different nature. The police, sheriff and ambulance drivers were in the same position. They knew nothing of the case. No accidents were reported to them during the day.
